GENERAL INFORMATION.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

Students are admitted to the Lower Classes who are able to read in the Fourth Reader and commence Sanford's Common School Arithmetic. Those from other Schools must bring letters of dismissal, and all must bring certificates of good moral character, or be able to give satisfactory reference.

Students are admitted to all the privileges of the University without regard to race, color, sect or sex.

RECITATIONS.

There are various recitations in all studies of the English Course, each term. Algebra and Geometry are begun in the Fall Term. Latin and Greek in the Winter Term. All studies of each department follow in regular order as laid down in the Courses of Study. Students wishing to take the higher Mathematics and Languages must be present at the opening of the term, when those studies are begun.

MUSIC.

The school is provided with an excellent organ and a piano, and lessons in instrumental music are given at reasonable rates.

EXPENSES.

Hereafter board will be charged by the week, and students will be required to pay in advance for at least four weeks. There are two classes of board. The first class is $2.00 a week; the second class, $1.50 a week. The school year consists of thirty-six weeks. The total for first-class board is $72.00; for second-class, $54.00—average, $63.00. Tuition free. Incidentals, 25 cents a week—$9.00 a year. Preachers in good standing in the M. E. Church will not be charged for incidentals. Students who bring money with them, are advised to pay over most of it to the Treasurer, to avoid danger of loss. All not required for expenses will be returned when desired.

Students must provide themselves with books before entering any classes. Students will not be received on Sunday.

LOCATION.

Clark University is the central school of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Georgia. Located at Atlanta, the capital of the State, and in a very healthful climate, it offers peculiar advantages to students. Atlanta is one of the most enterprising cities in the South. Situated at the junction of several railroads, it is very easy of access from all parts of the State, and is a great center for all kinds of business. It is eminently the place for a successful school.

LIBRARY.

The Library consists in large part of the private library of Bishop Clark, presented to the school by his widow after his death. Several valuable additions have been made to it within the last year. It is still, however, one of the needy departments of the school, to which any contributions from friends will be most heartily and thankfully welcomed.

POLYTECHNIC INSTITUTE.

The education demanded by the colored people for several generations to come, is a very practical one. A training that unfits them in any way for their life work is injurious. Skilled workmen in every department are as imperatively demanded as are teachers or preachers. To meet this want it is our purpose to gradually build up various departments for training students as farmers, mechanics and business men—extending the plan as fast as means are furnished. The idea, which will be more fully set forth in future circulars, includes Schools of Agriculture, Iron-working, Carpentry, and Practical Business. The President of the University will be happy to correspond with any who are disposed to help, much or little, in this direction. During the past year a School of Carpentry has been organized. A workshop 24x36 has been erected, benches and tools supplied, and instruction given in architecture, building and cabinet work.

APPARATUS.

The school is supplied with scarcely any philosophical and chemical apparatus. It is hoped, however, that the friends of the institution will not allow this state of things to continue long.

LOAN FUND.

A limited amount of money will be loaned to students who prove themselves worthy of it. This fund is not designed to assist students in coming to school at first, but to enable those who have proved themselves worthy to remain for awhile after their own resources fail. It is expected that students receiving aid will return the amount as soon as possible.

after their school education is completed, or before if possible. The success of our school depends largely upon our ability to continue and increase this fund.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are three thoroughly organized literary societies, two conducted by the gentlemen and one by the ladies. These afford the students an excellent opportunity for culture and improvement.

The Literary Association is a union of the three literary societies. It has a permanent organization, and is designed for the general improvement of the school by securing lectures, and by the publication of such matters as are deemed important.

VISITORS.

Being located in a central place, easy of access, the school is visited each year by many leading men of the church. During the past two years the students have been favored with addresses from Rev. R. S. Rust, D.D., Rev. Wm. Butler, D.D., Rev. E. Q. Fuller, D.D., Rev. F. S. Hoyt, D.D., Bishop Simpson, Bishop Wiley, Bishop Foster, Bishop Warren, Bishop Haven, Miss Frances Willard, Rev. A. D. Mayo, and several others.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The School is supported by the Freedmen's Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Having no endowment funds, its progress is necessarily slow, but it is also sure. Enrolled among its students are many excellent young men and women, who are destined, God willing, to do a great work in elevating the people.

The design of the School is especially to train teachers and preachers, and also to give sound moral and religious instruction to all.

All Students will be treated with kindness and consideration, and assisted in their efforts to secure an education to the best of our ability.

We cannot promise pecuniary aid to strangers with any great certainty; but those who prove honest, faithful and industrious will find friends in time of need. There is no reason why any energetic young man or woman may not obtain a good education.

GENERAL REGULATIONS.

Students must register their names at the office before entering their classes.

All bills must be paid at least one month in advance, except by special arrangement.

All public exercises of the School must be attended regularly and promptly.

Students are held amenable to all rules and regulations announced publicly to the school.

Proper respect and obedience to teachers are required.

Profanity and obscenity are forbidden.

Any student whose influence is injurious to the school will be excluded.

Students who enter the institution will be considered as morally pledging themselves against intemperance, lewdness, idleness, and all kinds of vice.

Those unwilling to abide by the above regulations should not apply for admission.

CALENDAR.

School year begins first Monday in October. Three-terms of 12 weeks each.

Several holidays will be given during the year, at the discretion of the Faculty.

HISTORY.

Early in the year 1869, a primary school was opened in Clark Chapel, Atlanta, Ga., by Rev. J. W. Lee and wife. It was established and supported by the Freedmen's Aid Society of the M. E. Church, and Rev. D. W. Hammond was appointed Principal, with Misses Fuller and Dickinson, Assistants. Later in the year, the Summer Hill school-house was purchased by Dr. Rust, and the school transferred to that building. Miss Lou Henly was the next Principal, with her sister, Miss Kizzie Henly, and Miss Johnson, Assistants.

In the fall of 1870, Mr. Uriah Cleary took charge. His associate teachers were Miss Sally Eichelberger and Mrs. Lee.

The following September the school opened under the charge of Rev. I. Marcy, with Mrs. Marcy and Mrs. Oldfield, Assistants. During the winter of this year, Rev. L. D. Barrows, D.D., taught a theological class in the basement of Loyd Street Church. In the spring the property on Whitehall street was purchased, and the present institution put in operation. Dr. Barrows returned to the North; Rev. J. W. Lee was made President, with Prof. Gosling and Mrs. Lee, Associates.

In the fall of 1874, Rev. I. J. Lansing took charge, and continued his labors two years, with the same corps of teachers—Prof. Watson, Mrs. Lansing, Miss Alice Buck and Miss Martha Smith. President Lansing was a fine scholar and an eloquent preacher, and the school was in a very flourishing condition during his administration.

Mr. J. V. Martin was the next President, assisted by W. H. Crogman and Miss Mary C. Owen. At the close of the year, the school passed into the hands of the present corps of teachers.

The name—Clark University—was given to the Institution in honor of Bishop Clark, who visited this section of country shortly after the close of the war, and organized the Southern work. His deep interest in this field of labor never ceased while he lived. His library is now the property of the Institution. Mrs. Bishop Clark and the family take the deepest interest in the University, contributing liberally to its support, and interesting their friends in its welfare.

The magnificent College Building, costing over thirty thousand dollars, is named in honor of Mrs. Eliza Chrisman, a highly valued friend of the lamented Bishop Clark, who contributed ten thousand dollars towards its erection, the other twenty thousand being pledged by our beloved Bishop Haven, and by Dr. Rust in behalf of the Freedmen's Aid Society. Bishop Haven, by personal solicitation, secured the money and purchased four hundred and fifty acres of valuable land, the first one hundred of which was purchased and donated to the Institution by Dr. Rust, and Chrisman Hall is erected upon its most beautiful elevation, overlooking the whole city. The names of three persons to whose liberality, energy and forecast the enterprise is indebted are especially identified with Chrisman Hall—namely, BISHOP GILBERT HAVEN, MRS. ELIZA CHRISMAN, and DR. R. S. RUST.
